

RAMONA MĂNESCU

Now in her third mandate at the European Parliament, Ramona Manescu's key activities are focused on hybrid warfare, cyber and energy security, and EU foreign policy in relation with the extended MENA region. As the EPP rapporteur on strategic communication, she contributed to the EP Resolutions on the state of EU-Russia relations, and the Reports on countering third parties propaganda against the EU.

She promotes a strategic approach, whereby policies and decisions with security implications, including those at national level, should be weighted through a broad range of implications, not just possible sectoral benefits. Mrs. Ramona Manescu, member of the EPP political Group in the European Parliament, is active in the Foreign Affairs Committee (AFET) of the European Parliament as well as in the International Trade (INTA), and the Transport and Tourism (TRAN) Committees. She is the acting Vice-Chair of the Delegation for relations with the Mashreq countries (DMAS). Her activity in relation to the MENA region completes with her membership in the Delegation for relations with the Arab Peninsula (DARP). She also chairs the EU Parliamentary Friendship Groups with Lebanon, Oman, and Qatar.
